there were people who reported that they had not seen any exchange in their stew over fungus, while others title that zetaclear was effective.

egcg is an antioxidant found in green tea, and is a member of the group of antioxidants known as catechins