like fad diets, nugenix and other so-called "natural" resources to get you in better health but at this point, these new PCSK9 inhibitors are looking like they have the potential to transform heart disease prevention and there's been a push to treat them earlier in the hope of improving prognosis.